OVERVIEW

The purpose of this New York/New Jersey Assistance Guide (“Guide”) is to offer information on local resources that may be helpful to people who were impacted by the 2005 Gulf Coast Hurricanes. It was created in response to the diverse needs of the evacuee community and is designed to provide those in need, and those who serve them, with up-to-date information on services and referrals.

The Guide is arranged in sections based the types of services provided. A Glossary of Services is provided in the following pages. Each listing in this Guide includes information on the service offered and how the agency providing the service can be contacted.

This Guide should be used together with the “National Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster—Hurricanes Katrina and Rita Relief and Recovery Assistance Guide.” A copy of the National Katrina/Rita Assistance Guide is available online at: www.nvoad.org and both the national and local guides are available on www.can.org.

The Coordinated Assistance Network, the New York City Katrina Coordinating Group, and others involved in preparing this Guide try to keep it as comprehensive, up-to-date, and accurate as possible, but cannot guarantee that all information here is correct; inclusion of a particular service in the Guide does not imply endorsement by these groups. Updates and verification of the information in this Guide are ongoing and additional information on assistance, services, and programs will be provided with each edition.

Please contact us if via email at cgibneycarey@safehorizon.org if you know of a service that should be added to this Guide. Be sure to include a contact name, email address and/or a phone number so we can verify information about the listing.
